

Dr. Destiny Peery

Dr. Peery is an independent Diversity and Research Consultant and a former law professor at Duke University and Northwestern Pritzker School of Law. She obtained her B.A. in Psychology from the University of Minnesota, an M.A. and PhD in Social Psychology from Northwestern University, as well as her J.D. from Northwestern Pritzker School of Law. She is an experienced researcher and a pragmatic thinker on issues of diversity, inclusion, and the intersection of race, social science, and law and policy. She has over 15 years of experience in conducting social science research, writing, teaching, and speaking publicly on diversity and inclusion-related issues and participating in/leading diversity and inclusion efforts, including conducting, writing, and speaking about research on stereotyping, prejudice, and discrimination.