

Shayla Pulliam

Shayla currently serves as the Diversity and Inclusion Program Manager for the State of Indiana. She is also a licensed attorney with a law degree from Indiana University Maurer School of Law and an experienced economic developer with a demonstrated history of working in the government administration industry and private sector.

Her career goal is to address the cycle of poverty and lack that affects generations by working cross functionally to create and produce resources that will empower people into a better way of being, thinking and living. Through strategic thinking she works internally with state agencies, organizations and companies to have the hard conversations that produce actionable, strategic plans that result in restoring people's ability to capitalize on their human capital in a meaningful way. When done right, this work reduces poverty, crime, recidivism, turnover and a host of other societal and economic woes.

Shayla currently lives in Carmel, IN with her husband. She is an active member at HOPE Worship Center COGIC and serves on the Goodwill Board of Education Initiatives.
